Manufacture and Sale of Alcohol in a Local Option Community: On July 16, 2026, ABI completed an alcohol manufacturing and dealing investigation in Shishmaref. An investigation determined that James K. Wilson, 60, of Shishmaref manufactured and sold homebrewed alcohol in a local option community (Shishmaref) between December 2025 and March 2026. ABI served a search warrant at Wilson's house and seized a still and an active solution of "moonshine" in March 2026. Subsequent investigation showed that Wilson sold alcohol to some residents in Shishmaref. Wilson was arrested pursuant to an arrest warrant charging him with five counts of permit required to manufacture and sell alcohol. Wilson was remanded to AMCC.

cit, with spending on services and the Permanent Fund dividend expected to greatly exceed the amount of available revenue. Legislators have been trying since 2017 to pass a bill containing the S Corp provision.

Dunleavy has vetoed numerous standalone tax bills, saying repeatedly that he will not approve any that are not part of a comprehensive plan to bring state expenses and revenue into line over the long term.

“He’s killed all of the new revenue bills that we’ve offered,” said Sen. Cathy Giessel, R-Anchorage.

“This is a huge gap in our revenue stream. It is an inequality in our tax structure,” she said, noting that other oil companies pay the tax that Hilcorp would pay. “How is it that Conoco and Exxon have been able to pay this tax and still continue to explore on the North Slope?”

Dunleavy said insisting on a S Corp provision in the gas pipeline bill amounts to hostage-taking.

“So you can’t get an S Corp bill passed that’s unvetted, that nobody really knows what it does, unless you hold the people hostage with a gas bill? Well, that’s a representative for you. That’s a senator for you. That’s pretty sad, to be perfectly honest with you,” he said. “Pretty sad.”
